Acharn, White Water: February 2015

Main channel previously a single constrained flow and now braided towards confluence with South Esk, reopened paleochannel in foreground.

Acharn, White Water: February 2015

Previously straightened channel now showing more sinuous morphology with a range of substrate types